Getting the most from your system

Legal aid functionality manages complex and time-consuming processes

To manage legal aid work efficiently, your fee earners need a system that automates complex administrative processes and helps them to sustain high case volumes, issue claims efficiently and maintain your firm's cash flow.

P4W is fully compliant and up-to-date with Legal Aid Agency (LAA) regulations and can capture every minute that can be claimed, at the current rate for the case, to increase profitability.

- > A smart solution that monitors limits and fixed fees to ensure your claim is within the given boundaries
- > Save time, eliminate errors and increase efficiency with bulk uploads to LAA Online
- > Comprehensive and flexible billing facilities which automatically create the appropriate type of claim
- > Easily draft civil claims and CDC bills to streamline the claims process

Create and manage Ministry of Justice (MOJ) claims directly from P4W

You can create and manage claims directly from P4W, removing the need to log into the MoJ portal separately. Your fee earners can easily upload claims, settlements and court packs directly from within P4W.

All forms can be produced as required at the click of a button and saved in the case agenda. The downloading of data is handled by web services in the background. P4W TaskCentre notifies the appropriate fee earner when an event has occurred on the case, normally via email, and claim statuses are viewable at a glance. Once submission of the data to the MoJ portal has occurred, the data screen becomes 'read only' and no further copies can be created. Copies can be downloaded as required.

The P4W Claims Management module contains all of the tables and fields required for claims, whether claimant or defendant, and firms can integrate these into their existing templates if they wish. A separate case agenda is automatically created to display an event history of interaction with the MoJ Portal on each case.

GT Stewart used P4W and FormShare automation to radically restructure police station client inception in order to make criminal law financially viable.

GT Stewart's challenge was to use our software to automate as much of this work as possible in order to reduce costs and improve data quality and security.

Now, a digital form held on a laptop is completed at the police station. This carefully structured, 9-page form is efficient and accurate, plus a time record is created.

Once submitted digitally to the firm, the information goes directly into P4W where the software instantly:

- > Checks for conflicts and executes a compliance check
- > Opens a new client record, if required, and opens a new client file
- > Time records the complex legal aid time and fixed fees.
- > Initiates the automated billing process

Delivering added value to your firm

Advanced Carpe Diem

Carpe Diem allows the capture of billable time anywhere, anytime, on any device. It's simple-to-use and instantly accessible. Using the latest intelligent time technology, it can improve productivity and help your fee earners increase the total number of hours they are able to bill. At the same time, it can help your firm build trust and strong client relationships through comprehensive reporting that delivers billing transparency.

Used by over 100,000 professionals across four continents, Carpe Diem eliminates much of the monotony of recording time, allowing users to type, handwrite or dictate their entire time sheets. Using natural language processing, Carpe Diem will analyse the information and generate an accurate time entry, or multiple time entries, all instantly associated with the correct matter.

Advanced Link Legal

The ongoing success of your firm depends on strong client relationships. Relevant, effective communication with your audience is the key to business growth. Link Legal is a single contact management and e-marketing solution that fully integrates with P4W and was developed specifically with legal firms in mind.

Inbuilt conformity functions facilitate compliance with required data and consent legislations.

Client satisfaction

To meet the evolving expectations of clients, you need to keep them fully informed of matter progression every step of the way. Being able to effectively communicate case progress with your clients, without distracting lawyers from getting on with their job, is a key objective for every modern law firm.

The way in which a client wishes to be kept informed will vary. Some prefer a light touch update when key milestones are achieved, while others want access to a fully immersive review of their case.

Advanced P4W can help law firms provide a range of client touchpoints including automated emails, text messages and our client portal that enables easy collaboration. Integrations with LinkApp and Perfect Portal provide additional options to meet all client requirements.

A firm may choose to deploy all options in order to ensure that their clients are kept informed in a manner which best suits their circumstances. Ultimately, it's about improving the client's experience. The firms that achieve this through the use of technology are undoubtedly the most successful in today's profession.

Ongoing training and consultancy

Our support doesn't just stop after the implementation of your new system. We care about keeping customer communication lines open and we offer ongoing training and engagement, both before and after the go-live period.
