Advanced Air Receipting

Empower your users to confirm receipt of goods and services anytime and anywhere; our Air Receipting mobile app supports your purchase to pay processes on any device.

The challenge

At Advanced, we understand that the manual procedure of receipting of goods and services is a major challenge facing most organisations, placing pressure on finance professionals to ensure suppliers are paid promptly within agreed terms.

The solution

Working alongside our eProcurement solution for 'non-stocked' goods and services, our mobile application improves and extends self-service functionality to your wider user community.

Enabling receipts to be processed quickly and easily on the move, Air Receipting empowers end users with access to critical functions without the need to login to desktop applications.

In doing so, Air Receipting delivers significant timesavings, ensuring the efficient completion of receipting and prompt payment of invoices.
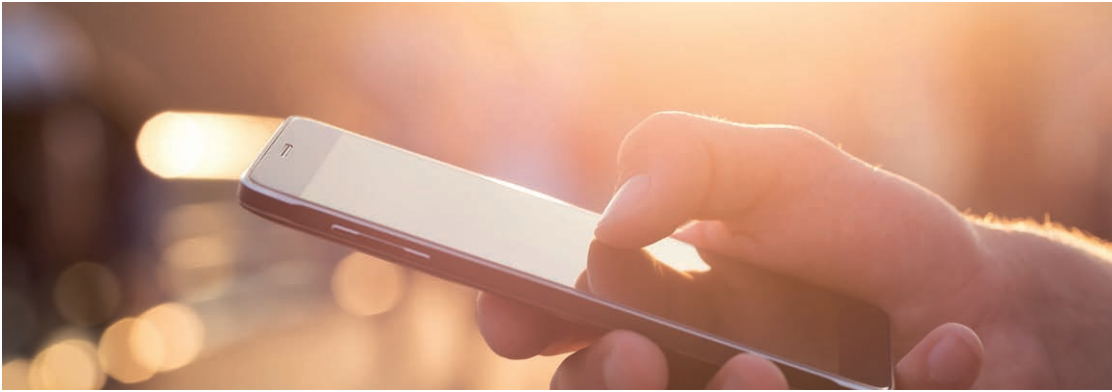

The benefits

Supporting your mobile workforce

Is your mobile workforce growing? Providing you with instant access anytime and anywhere, remote users can receipt on the go with the help from Advanced Air Receipting. Our mobile application is available on both iOS and Android mobile devices.

Increase productivity

Realise significant time, effort and resource savings by providing remote users with access to self-service functions. The intuitive interface requires little training and offers simple navigation with minimal user input, allowing for accurate receipt entry and reducing the burden of invoice processing.

FACT SHEET

Advanced Air Receipting

Flexible to your processes

We appreciate that most organisations require flexible purchase-to-pay processes and solutions. With Air Receipting, users are able to receipt goods for their own orders, as well as orders created by others that they have access to. Users can also search for orders by supplier, according to your organisation's individual procedures and configuration of eProcurement.

Benefit from greater efficiencies

Ensure the prompt payment of supplier invoices, remove the risk of late payment fees and ultimately improve supplier relationships with an easy to use, efficient solution. Our mobile app supports your organisation in reducing your operational costs and improving process efficiency.

Your receipting in real time

Air Receipting tracks all goods receipted in one mobile application, allowing you to quickly and easily clarify the status on specific receipting processes in real time, for a holistic view of your receipting status without the need to log in to the desktop application.
